THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

THIS DOCUMENT CONTAINS INFORMATION AFFECTING THE NATIONAL DEFENSE OF THE UNITED STATES WITHIN THE MEANING OF THE ESPIONAGE ACT 50 U.S.C. 31 AND 32, AS AMENDED. ITS TRANSMISSION OR THE REVELATION OF ITS CONTENTS IN ANY MANNER TO AN UNAUTHORIZED PERSON IS PROHIBITED BY LAW. REPRODUCTION OF THIS FORM IS PROHIBITED.

1. A radio station with four masts and another with one mast were observed on a flat meadow just north of Neu-Gaarz (N 54/U 33), west of the Laerz airfield. *
2. One officer and three soldiers were seen at the radio stations. The one-mast radio station was guarded by a watch dog.
3. It is believed that the radio stations are supplied with electric current through a field cable which leads to the airfield.

* Comment. The radio stations seem to be located in line with the extension of the runway to the west. They probably are navigational aids for the jet fighters stationed at the field. The four-mast radio station is believed to be a DF station. The one-mast installation may be a control point for the DF station with another control point, which was presumably not noticed by source, in the opposite direction. Item 4 in Annex 1 possibly is the main signal for the landing planes and thus may be located in the approach lane. The one-mast station and its unnoticed counterpart may also be beacons transmitting dash and dot signals, thus indicating the width of the approach zone. For location and layout sketches see Annexes 1, 2 and 3.
